Web Sites

Make your mark by enhancing your online image

Whether you need a few simple pages or a comprehensive web site devoted to your own organisation or concept, one can be build to incorporate high quality graphics and multimedia which will enhance your site to a level of your choice.

Building corporate HTML web sites is our speciality. Using your specifications as a starting point, clean, efficient web sites can be constructed which are easy to access and understand, don't rely on flashy graphics or additional software to run, and are easy to update. Of course, if flashy graphics are a specific requirement, they can easily be added.

There are various options for the size of web site you can have built for you, from a basic four pages upwards. We can also find you a web host (from whom you will rent the space for your live web site), and can handle all contact with them, taking off your hands all the hard work of setting up, and delivering cost reductions on your site's maintenance. We can also secure your choice of domain names.

Once the site is up and running, just supply us with the details of any changes you want made and we will implement them.
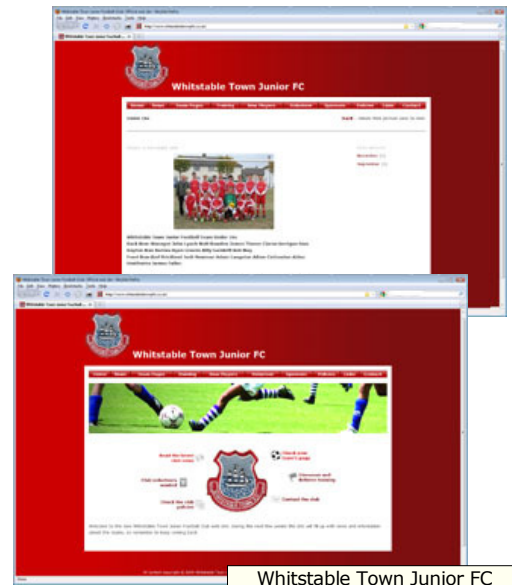

- Fast-loading pages with quality images and logos
- Cross-browser compatibility (where possible)
- Choose any level of on-screen complexity
- Submission to major search engines
- Unspammable contact email addresses
- Hosting and domain names secured for you
- Site can be fully managed and maintained by us for you
- Flash animations can be added
- Search engine installation and maintenance
- Contact forms added (where possible)
- Domain names and web space secured for you
- Monthly statistics checks and site fine-tuning

Contact us and we can construct specification layouts to confirm your requirements. Alternatively, you can supply your own layouts, or an existing web site that can be used as the basis for new work. Either way, we will make sure the product will reflect your company image in the best possible way.

Any additional pages and effects can be added for your specific needs.

Implementation. We can upload your new web site for you. After that we can either hand over the site in its entirety to you and work on updates at your request, or provide you with a complete hands-free solution. The choice is yours.
